'JAZZMANIA' REELS UNDER BLOWS DEALT BY FAMOUS SAVANT

Stunned and battered, jazz was reeling here today under the effects of a series of sledge-hammer blows.

The thump-thump-thump, the clanging and the wailing and the droning—all that goes into the make-up of Old Man Syncopation—these were suffering from a spirited castigation at the hands of a savant who termed such things "Jazzmania."

It was J. V. Breitwieser, A. M. Ph.D., of the department of education at the university at Berkeley, who thrilled the delegates to the fifth annual convention of the State Federation of Music clubs, at yestenday afternoon's session at terday afternoon's session at the Temple theater, by des-cribing "Jazzmania" as "a so-cial disease." "It is not as a contributor to music that I speak, but as a student of psychology, that fascinating study of human behavior," he pointed out as he launched into his subject, "The Social and Psychological Value of Music." "Music is an elemental form of expression and all the great well-springs of action come from our emotional life," he continued. "What then fol-

WASHINGTON, D. C., April - "Discovery in the Belgian Congo of large quantities of pitchblende, a radium-bearing ore—a discovery cerdited with the significant result of reducing the price of radium from $120,000 to $70,000 a gram—has served to emphasize the probable great importance to the world of the country at the heart of Africa when it shall have been fully developed," says a bulletin from the Washington, Geographic society.
"In its potentialities, the

"In its potentialities, the Belgian Congo might be called 'the Brazil of Africa'," continues the bulletin. "Like the largest of South American states, it is of vast extent, covers the heart of a continent, is situated in the tropics, and has flowing through it one of the world's greatest rivers, capable of carrying an empire's commerce. It is only to the Amazon, premier of rivers, that the Congo river can in truth be compared. Other great streams be compared. Other great streams are longer than either, but none approaches them closely in the approaches them closely volumes of water which they pour The average width into the sea. "Perhaps the vast/bulk of Bel-gian Congo can best be under-stood if one imagines the country lifted bodily and set down on the surface of the United States. the surface of the United States.

Its 909,000 square miles would cover almost exactly one-third of the area, not including Alaska. If the southwestern corner of Congo were placed at San Diego, California, the southern boundary would roughly correspond with the Mexican border, and the southeastern corner would fall at the southern point of Texas. Forming a very rough square, its northeastern corner would lie at Des Moines and its northwestern corner in Yellowstone Park.

"But though this comparison gives a good idea of Congo's great size, its latitude and climate are far different from those of the states covered. If it were shifted to the Western Hemisphere in its true latitude it would lie astride the Amazon and would cover most of the Guianas and a large slice of northern and central Brazil.

Rapidly Disappear
The precious stones, worth 2,000,000 gold rubles, are rapidly disappearing into the hands of smug buyers from the continent, who are finding a rich harvest among the nobility. The money from the diamonds goes, and when it is gone—well, an eloquent shrug of a graceful shoulder, a fatalistic wave of the hand, that express more than words, is her answer.

Ultimately, perhaps, she will go to America and appear on the stage, for Lady Regina cannot see herself washing dishes in restaurants or waiting on merchants

SAN DIEGO, April 6.—"Unless the United States strengthens its navy with sufficient submarines and land and sea planes its battleship first line of defense will be useless in event of war," declared Rear Admiral William S. Sims, U. S. N., retired, in speaking before the local American Legion.

He severely criticized the "too conservative" elements at Washington for their lack of appreciation of the problem.

Sims deplored the building of too many "pork barrel" navy yards on the Pacific coast. He strongly indorses the concentration of forces at a main base on this coast, urging the support of the Admiral Rodman report. This report recommends the main operating base of the fleet be built at San Francisco.

Appeal to Women to Vote For Only Woman Candidate

A Statement

I again want to say that I believe that I am entitled to the city treasurership for the next four years.

I served the city for eight years when the salary was only $10 a month. No one opposed my election then. Now that the salary is $150 a month, I feel that I am justified in saying that I am entitled to re-election.

To The Voters

I am qualified to hold the position of city treasurer. Through my long residence in Santa Ana, through my newspaper work, and in my official capacity, I have become well acquainted with municipal affairs. If I had not known in my own mind that I was qualified I would not have become a candidate.

Since I am the only woman who is a candidate for a city office, I desire to present my claim to the women of Santa Ana for their support next Monday.

I have made my own living in Santa Ana in competition with men. I have worked in offices with men for a great many years, earning money with which to raise my family of three children. I know that a woman can do office work, that she can earn a salary, and make good as an employe.

lask the women of Santa Ana to give me their support for city treasurer, and I pledge them my word as a woman that I will make good.

to the "Four corners," the center of the Olive business section.

The project will call for the laying of approximately three thousand feet of cast iron mains which, combined with the addition of another well, now drilling, to the water system, will make it possible to supply the rapidly increasing water wants of the community.

A committee consisting of F. B. Maxwell, E. C. Conger and G. E. Wittwer, was appointed to investigate probable costs of the improvements and devise some means for financing the project.

Work of, sinking the new well, in connection with which the new improvements are planned, is progressing slowly owing to the extremely hard formation being encountered by the drillers. The pit is down less than 45 feet with approximately 90 feet remaining to be penetrated before water is encountered. When completed, the shaft is expected to be three hundred feet deep.

The theme of the story is based on the remarkable resemblance of

Jimmy Gallop and Judge Granger, who is running for mayor of a small town on the "reform ticket."

The trouble that ensues when the judge's political opponents hire Jimmy to pose as the mayoralty candidate and to address a mass meeting of the latter's constituents, all reform workers, creates entertainment a-plenty, according to all advance reports. Jimmy addresses the meeting and comes out for an open town, which throws the gathering into an uproar.

But what follows that, when the judge's fiancee mistakes the likable Jimmy for her husband-to-be, and falls in love with his "changed manner," will give picture patrons on international reputation as a perfect love-maker, the romantic priseder bid fair to be even more

FEWER CARS STOLEN
ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 6.—Statistics announced by the National Automobile Dealers' Association Saturday night show that 85,333 automobiles were stolen in twenty-eight principal cities of the United States in 1922, as compared with 37,554 in the previous year. Clarence A. Vane, manager, ascribed this decrease to "low price levels for new automobiles," which, he said, "are rapidly eliminating the possible market for stolen motor vehicles." New York, with 7,107 automobiles stolen, Chicago with 3,636 and Detroit with 3,194, led the list.

retary Doty in his report.

He referred in his report to salaries in the county service and added that the salaries paid were equal to or a little in excess of the pay in private employment.

His conclusions were based largely on a questionnaire sent to large numbers of private employers relative to salaries paid in differt lines of work and which brought replies covering the pay of more than 14,000 workers. The average wake for all those reported on was fixed at $127.49 a month. The averages for some of the different lines of employment were as follows:

Tradesmen and laborers, $130 a month; agricultural workers, $127.63; office workers, $119.38; engineering workers, including civil engineers, survey crews, architectural and mechanical draftsmen and others along that line, $176.03: file clerks and specialized

And who's showing the world how to be morally perfect?

Why—er, the prize fighter.

You might just as well come out and admit it. Take this Monsieur Criqui, for, instance. Monsieur Criqui has come over here to shake hands with Johnny Kilbane, after which he expects to sew up the world's featherweight championship in a bag and take it back to La Belle France.

Criqui is slight, as befits a featherweight champion. His hair is slicked back into a neat pompadour. When I saw him he wore a soft shirt, a dark blue suit with a tiny stripe running through it and very pointed soft brown shoes.

And has he much chance at the world championship? Ah, if a steady eye, a quick foot and a gentlemanly bearing have anything to do with it, he has. Take the word of Monsieur Robert Eudeline.

And anyway, there's this to be said about it: If Monsieur Kilbane gets sassy and makes a few cutting remarks to Monsieur Criqui, Monsieur Criqui won't know a word that Mister Kilbane's saying. They do say Kilbane has won many a battle by riling his opponent. Words will be wasted on Criqui.

Comorrow, the Last Day to Attend the Stove Show

Hundreds of women came and saw the remarkable exposition and exhibit of Universal Gas Ranges. The factory experts of Cribben & Sexton Company, Chicago, the makers, are showing these fine gas ranges. But remember, these special offers shown below will continue only during this exhibit. They will explain to you how your kitchen work can be made easier. So come in early. See how you can bake and roast with just one-third of gas. See the beautiful appearance of the Universal Gas Ranges-streamline body, period legs, sturdy construction, sanitary features and other improvements explained below. This will not obligate you. Be sure to come in tomorrow.

is a revolutionary improvement and when used in connection with the Universal Safety Gas Economizer makes baking and roasting a pleasure. It is easily read, being inset into the main front of the range. The heat graduations, as to the degrees and different articles to bake, are plainly marked on the thermometer. It is absolutely reliable. Recipes can be followed without guesswork, or chance of error. It registers oven heat to a fraction of a degree. No need to worry about food burning or undercooking.

Women agree that this feature surpasses anything of its kind ever put on a gas range.

$5.00 cash will hold any Universal Gas Range you may select for future delivery and entitles you to all special inducements of this exhibit.

Then why should we hesitate to believe that the Lord spoke to Abram without the use of words—and that he is speaking to us, and that we could hear and understand perfectly, were it not for inherited and personal disobedence to God. He is called "the friend of God," something not said of any other person, because they were on such intimate terms. Friendship with God. This is the secret of a successful life. Whoever so lives as to deserve to be known as God's friend cannot fail. "I will bless thee, and make thy name great."—v. 2. When God makes a man's name great it is not an empty greatness. There is no man today honored by so many millions as Abraham. Jew, Christian and Mohammedon alike esteems him. And the secret of this widespread renown is the fact that he believed God and acted in accord with belief in an age which required, in order to do this, a heroism that was absolute and constant.

developed "sixth sense," if such it might be called, there is now a kind of blind groping. Where now we say we have an impression, a feeling, a conviction, in that long-ago probably men said, "God is speaking to me."

Mazort has left this record: "Whenever I saw a grand mountain or a wonderful piece of scenery, it said to me, "Turn me into music; play me on the organ." And Mendelssohn says in his letters to his sister, "This is how I think of you today," or, "This is what I have to say to you today, "and then follows a bar or two of music which she is requested to play on the organ or plano. So the mountain spoke to Mozart and the organ to Fanny Hansel, the sister of Mendelssohn.

ORDER PLANS DRAWN FOR NEW JUNIOR H. S.

Plans and specifications of the new junior high school, to be built in the southern part of Santa Ana with part of the proceeds of the bond issue voted at the last special school election, were being drawn up today by Frederick H. Eley, architect.

Instructions to prepare the drawings in order that advertising for bids may begin soon were given Eley by the board of education at a meeting held here.

Other matters before the board included the second special school election to be held April 24 to propose a $150,000 bond issue for grammar school purposes, and postponement of the suggested thrift campaign in the schools from the present time until entry of the new board of education.

It is not often that a doctor comes right out and endorses any preparation but when he does you may be sure it is something out of the ordinary. Read what Dr. Johnson, skin specialist, says about ho kars, the antiseptic, astringent, greaseless Cream:

"For over twenty-five years in my practice I have used many kinds of preparations called "skin foods" but never until I found Hokara did I see such beautiful and satisfactory results. I use it on all my patients. It cleanses the skin and makes it soft and fresh looking, producing firmness and giving power to the tissues. All those to whom I have recommended it are delighted with its use."

If you suffer with skin trouble so that the itching seems almost unbearable and the skin is so broken out that you are sensitive about your appearance, don't think it necessary to use some greasy, viie smelling ointment or salve. Just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Hokara. It is sold on a positive guarantee of satisfaction or money back. All druggists can supply you.—Adv. W. P. the Maritime Quartier of Marseilles, I lived in the Foret du Dom, on the far side of Hyeres, the life of a dog. There were three of us woodmen in the hut—Pierre, Jacques and myself.

Solitude more complete than that which I shared with these two men I have never imagined. I read the newspapers, which we obtained with difficulty from the neighboring village—read of myself as the most notorious criminal at large, read of all the world-famed detectives of London, Paris and New York who had sworn to effect my capture, read of my crimes, my daring, my cunning, read of all these things outside my shanty on the hillside—and smiled. Given a certain amount of resignation and patience, and I smiled. Given a certain amount of resignation and patience, and I knew very well that I was safe as long as I chose.

One day a chance incident set me thinking. We had paused for a second to fill our pipes with filthy tobacco, barely a dozen yards round one of the hairpin corners of the forest road, leaving our wagons, as usual, in the middle of the thoroughfare. Suddenly a car swung round the corner, traveling too fast for the driver to apply his brakes with safety. With great skill he passed us, grazing the long trunks of the lopped trees and escaping the precipice by a matter of inches. That night I saw that Pierre and Jacques drank more than their usual share of the sour wine, and afterward I propounded my scheme.

"Comrades," I said, "it is a dog's life we lead."

They growled assent.

life we lead."

They growled assent.

"Today," I continued, "an idea came to me. If our wagons had been an inch or two nearer the outside corner of the road, or the man in the automobile a shade less skillful, he could not possibly have escaped. His automobile would have been smashed, and he would have gone over the edge of the corner, and be prepared for what may happen."

What did happen was not in the least what I had expected. From where I lay, crouching amongst the scrub, I could see that something was wrong with the car. The chauffeur was rocking in his seat, and the car was swaying from side to side.

But it was the girl's face from

"It would be an equal share between the three?" I agreed.
"Between the three," I agreed.
"Between the details to me."

We went to work the next morning with a new zest. All the time that we were at work in the forest we were thinking of what fortune might have in store for us round each, corner, loitering at the paychological spot always with the same evil hope in our hearts.

The affair, however was not so easy. Sometimes we were seen from above or below; sometimes drivers were too careful. On the fourth day, however, success rewarded our perseverance. A small automobile which I had spotted from a distance dame round the corner where we were, so to speek, anchored, driven with foll mersaure of recklessness which orly a Frenchman, anxious to have his engine, can obtain. There was a wild cry from the driver, a crash into our wagon, and over went the automobile and mandown the side of the precipica.

It was I who clambered down to where our victime was lying, and drew s pleasing-looking black pocketbook from the inside of his coat. Afterward I felt his heart, and discovered that he was alive, or carrying. Presently a public touring car from Cannes, on its way to Hyeres, arrived. The accident was explained; room was made for the injured man; and a liberal pourboire was given us, collected among the passengers. We them made our way home, and later on, when we had lighted our evening fire, we opened the pocketbook. I divided the money into three portions, but I apoke to them as a master.

"Listen, Jacques, and yon, Pierre," I sald. "I am a man of Justice, but although I am one of Ju

Vendetta begins between MICHAEL SAYERS, noted criminal, and
SIR NORMAN GREYES, once of Scotland Yard, when Sayers' beautiful housemaid, JANET, saves him from Sir Norman by shooting dead an officer sent to arrest him. Janet becomes Sayers' wife and accomplice.

Janet takes passage to Marseilles, where a confederate of Sayers', named Louisa Martin, is jealous of Janet and plots against her. Greyes, following on the trail of Michael, traces him to his place of residence in Marseilles. It develops that Sayers has eluded his pursuers by disguisting a confederate of the trees we felled.

Our next adventure, engineered is similar table to the trees we felled.

Our next adventure, engineered is similar table to the residence in the strange dialect of the trees we felled.

Our next adventure, engineered in similar fashion to the last, in similar fashion to the last, brought us a matter of a couple of thousand francs. This time, however, there was trouble, for the driver's neck was broken as he pitched head foremost from the seat of the car; and his wife, who was only slightly injured, gave vigorous evidence as to the position of our wagon and the disappearance of her husband's pocketbook after we had dragged his body up from a ledge of the precipice. A gendarme from the neighboring village visited us that same night and made a careful search through our belongings. There was nothing to be found, however, and by preserving a stolid silence and leaving all the speech to me, my companions escaped to me, my companions escaped suspicion just as I did. Afterward, however, I spoke to them seriously.

"Comrades," I pointed out,
"this game is too good to last.
For a time we must go warily. Afterward we will seek one more adventure, which we must select adventure, which we must select with great care, for it will be my last. If it is successful, I shall leave you. Afterward you two had better bury your savings in the ground and abandon the game, for it needs brains to be made successful, and you two have not the brains of a rabbit between you."

I announced. "Move the wagons on around the corner, and be pre

Those who remember the triumphs of the scenery committee in past productions are wondering what will be the nature of this latter scene, it was said. Certainly it cannot surpass the effects secured in "The Fortune Hunter" and "Little Women," theater fans here declare. here declare.

A PUZZLE A DAY

A man is 71 years old and his son is 34. At what age was the father three times the age of his son? At what age will the father be twice as old as the son?

Yesterday's Answer
1 OATS
- 2 COATS COLTS BOLTS BELTS BEETS 7 BEARS 8 PEARS

Above are shown the different changes made in the sign by the various merchants who occupied the store. The clothing merchant added a "C" to "Oats." The gunsmith changed the "A" to "L", and one letter was changed successively by the hardware dealer, the second clothing merchant, the grocer, the animal dealer and finally the fruit merchant.

SAVE THE CANYONS

Every canyon in Orange county ought to be preserved for the use of the public.

canyon will be of use to the public.

the public portions of canyons now owned privately. plishing the feat within a week or two, returning in It is not too early to begin thinking about that mat- the same plane they started with. It is mostly a ter, not too early to take action toward securing matter of increasing the endurance of airplane enthe canyon park sites.

A few days ago, County Fire Warden W. E. Adkinson presented a viewpoint that has caused us to think. Mr. Adkinson pointed out that there is great danger that the best portion of Trabuco canyon will soon be in the hands of individuals as a result of the granting of cabin site permits.

The theory of the cabin site is sound. It looks to beginning July 1, and the end is not yet. greater usefulness of the national forest. But there are places where the cabin site plan will work out to the detriment of the public at large. We are convinced that one of those places is the Trabuco. We are convinced that Mr. Adkinson is right, that Trabuco the Governor and of the legislators, there will be concessions as are required after this illuming. ought to be saved for the use of the transient outing such concessions as are required, after this illuminating discussion. party, for Iom, Dick and Harry from Santa Ana.

Orange, Long Beach, Pomona, from here, there and everywhere. The space in the canyon is limited.

There may be more or less uncertainty as to the part Governor Richardson is playing, but it is to be remembered that he came to the "corner office" for a great deal in outlining the federal policy.

The protest voiced by Mr. Adkinson ought to be express their ideas. Now is the time to act, for just recently additional cabin sites were laid out in the Trabuco.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

Walter Camp, of the justly famous "daily doz en", is a booster for play and playgrounds. He includes in play "winter sports, folk games, hikes, summer recreation and all the various forms of spare-time activities that make for physical fitness, joyous fun and wholesome diversion." He names amateur dramatics, choral singing and handicraft, because they bring new interests into people's lives.

Some of the tangible results of the neighborhood playground are to be found in decreased juvenile delinquency and decreased street accidents. The neighborhood playground is a good business proposition also, for it attracts home-seekers and helps to maintain community morals.

The big cities need playgrounds more than rural districts and small towns only because they have more children to care for. But a time should come when every village, town and city has its recognized play places and uses them regularly and wholeheartedly. A wholesome play life means about as much to a community as its school system or its churches. work and no play" makes a dull community.

MEANS A SAVING OF MONEY

That a city manager form of government means books. a saving of money, a dollar's worth of service for every dollar spent, and lower tax rates has been asserted many times. This week, Community Service, swept into a waste basket and then dumped into published by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, puts emphasis upon this same point, in the following clear-cut, forceful editorial:

The charter form of government to be voted on April 17 is the result of the best efforts of fifteen of Santa Ana's best minds and largest taxpayers. In formulating a charter they quite naturally had in mind not only the greatest good for the greatest number, but their own individual and personal interests. It must necessarily follow, then, that what is for the benefit of these men would be for the good of all of us. They believe that the city manager form of government will save them tax money, increase property values, and will generally and specifically be of value to the city and its people. If they did not so think they would never have signed the document, and Santa Ana people who know these men as citizens of the highest business type must realize that the building of the charter was to them a cold blooded business matter that would benefit Santa Ana present and future.

It is worthy of note to all taxpayers that the cities working under a manager form of government have low tax rates. Note the following:

form of government with Board of Trustees as

Pomona 1.75

Investigation shows that a city manager can and does save his city money in numerous ways, all of which can be done in Santa Ana. The Southern California cities having a city manager receive many advantages from their form of government which Santa Ana does not now receive and it is the opinion of government experts that the city manager form puts business in city government and fixes responsibility.

FLIGHT AROUND WORLD

"Captain Bapt's Flying Circus" has left Marseilles, France, for a flight around the world. It touches first at Nice, then bears eastward to India, northwest to Japan and Alaska, down the Pacific Coast to Chile, across the Andes to Argentina, north to Brazil and from Pernambuco across the Atlantic to French West Africa, then north to the European starting point.

It is altogether fitting that policies, or proposed exhaustively, in Congress, and among the people. It would be regrettable, however, to make these questions distinctively political, to be used, in each successive campaign, to stir up prejudices and to invoke bitter feeling toward certain foreign countries. These issues should be weighed and considered on their intrinsic merits, and not become mere political shibboleths.

tax the resources of the planes and pilots and afford a stern test of present-day aviation. If even one of that squadron circles the globe, it will be a triumph of modern science and daring.

No such originality is involved as that of Magellan and his pioneer crew when they circumnavigated the earth, but in some respects the difficulties are greater. The airplane, as yet, has proved itself dependable only over short distances. The comparatively modest attempt to conduct a flight from New York to That sounds like a sweeping statement, but, in wiew of the rapid increases that are being made in Rio de Janeiro ran into all sorts of trouble and took our population and the growing popularity of outing of all sorts, none can deny that henceforth every of the French fliers, but there is no telling how far any plane or aviator will get.

Portions of most of the canyons are owned by the public, as represented by the national forest service. Other portions are privately owned. There may come a time when action will be taken to secure for the world with a reasonable expectation of accomgines and improving the landing facilities.

Budgeting the Budget

San Bernardino Sun.

More than three weeks have been spent at Sac ramento, given almost wholly to a stduy of the budget of State expenditures for the two years

If all the best oak groves are given over to cabins, which will be occupied only occasionally, where will the crowds go? This is a case of where the rights of the many against privileges for a few should count out to the had to do with the budget of $79,000,000 recommended by Mrs. Pierce and Mr. Radcliffe, we do not know, but we rather suspect he told them to cut to the bone, expecting that just such a situation The protest voiced by Mr. Adkinson ought to be taken up at once, by city and county organizations.

Whether they agree with Adkinson or not, they should express their ideas. Now is the time to act, for just the bolicy, expecting that just such a situation would arise as did arise, and that in the subsequent showing to be made by the various departments, it might appear that the protest voiced by Mr. Adkinson ought to be made by the various departments, it might appear that the subsequent showing to be made by the various departments, it might appear that the subsequent showing to be made by the various departments, it might appear that the subsequent showing to be made by the various departments, it might appear that the subsequent showing to be made by the various departments, it might appear that the subsequent showing to be made by the various departments, it might appear that the subsequent showing to be made by the various departments, it might appear that the subsequent showing to be made by the various departments, it might appear that the subsequent showing to be made by the various departments, it might appear that the subsequent showing to be made by the various departments, it might appear that the subsequent showing to be made by the various departments, it might appear that the subsequent showing to be made by the various departments, it might appear that the subsequent showing to be made by the various departments, it might appear that the subsequent showing to be made by the various departments, it might appear that the subsequent showing to be made by the various departments, it might appear that the subsequent showing to be made by the various departments, it might appear that the subsequent showing to be made by the various departments, it might appear that the subsequent showing to be made by the various departments, it might appear that the subsequent showing to be made by the various departments, it might appear that the subsequent showing the subsequent showing the subsequent showing the s changes in detail.

It will be remembered that G. B. Daniels, the senior member of the State Board of Control, recommended a budget for $88,000,000, and would not approve the totals submitted by Mrs. Pierce and Mr. Radcliffe. There are now intimations that as a result of these hearings, Mr. Daniels has reduced his figures to about $84,000,000, and if the revenue can be obtained, we shall not be at all surprised to see Governor Richardson willing to approve about that total. He is very likely to have considerable confidence in the Daniels estimate.

But if the $84,000,000 in revenue cannot be found, there will be no $84,000,000 budget approved. For it will be the last thing Friend William Richardson will do to stand for a course that will call for a direct State tax on private property in California.

Our Law-Making Mania

Chalk up one for Senator W. F. Gates.

The Oroville Solon has the reputation of being the "silent member" of the State Senate, but he unbosomed himself of some wholesome truths the other day in discussing California laws—existing and proposed. We find ourselves in consonance with many of his observations. Here are some of the things he said:

"Ther are already too many laws on the statute books of California. "The people are burdened now with so many laws that they don't know where to turn, and, as a result, many of them are never obeyed.

"Half the bills introduced during the present session are useless, and I, for one, am against putting "Burn all the statutes or laws of California and begin anew.

"I would like to see every law now on the statutes the fire. After that, call together ten or twelve real lawyers—there are plenty of them in California and have them draw up fifty laws. Real laws. where 'yes' means 'yes' and 'penalty' means 'penalty' and then see that the laws are enforced."

The thing Senator Gates is getting at is recog nized by every thinking man and woman in Califor-nia. Our law makers all over the country for years have been running amuck. Every fellow elected to office immediately feels it is incumbent upon him to father a new law. The result is that every way we turn we bump into some fool law. Instead of engendering respect and obedience our laws—many of them—are held up to ridicule. This is our own fault. Many of them are ridiculous. More-over, this mania for law making is not confined to California. It is rampant throughout the country. Senator Gates is on the right track. More power Shall the United States become a member of the Shall the United States become a member of the permanent Court of International Justice? This bids fair to become a prominent issue in the 1924 Presidential campaign, just as, in 1920, entrance of the United States into the League of Nations was a prominent issue. President Harding and Secretary Hughes are strongly committed to the World Court, and favor entry of this country into this tribunal. But whether or not the Republican party, in 1924, will declare for this, remains to be determined.

THE CITY MANAGER

He Writes His Own Obit-- "Achievement"

TWELFTH ARTICLE. (This is the twelfth of 14 articles on the City-Manager plan, by H. S. Gilbertson of the National Municipal

'The City Manager—a New Profession" is the title of one of the several books that has come out dealing with the new muni-cipal order. The men who are making this thing go in a professional spirit, measure their achievement by the services they have about doing my lessins, and I sed,

When after two years' service, Charles Nagle, city manager Hay pop, wats you think? of Wheeling, W. Va., died in office, his fellow city-managers in the bulletin of their association, significantly wrote of him under caption: "An Obituary of Achievement."

What was it these city managers were proud to say of their colleague?

He had faced an empty treasury and unpaid accounts of nearly $36,000. City-owned utilities were in bad shape and equipment impaired. Under Mr. Nagle's administration, the wages of all city employes were raised, yet with a saving (through combination of offices) of $12,000. The city was provided with a complete new motor fire apparatus. The red-light district was wiped out and gambling stopped.

net gain: about $110,000.

Thousands of dollars in carfares were saved to the residents of Wheeling and surrounding towns by proving to the Public Service Commission that the traction companies had overvalued their properties.

A thorough investigation was made of the water supply, which resulted in plans for a mechanical filtration system.

Finally, the manager saved the government itself to the city by fighting a political "ripper bill" to combine the office of mayor and city manager and make the chief of police elective.

and city manager and make the chief of police elective.

His record in Wheeling would soon have made him a marked man and other cities would have been bidding for his services. Or else such cities might have advertised in the engineering journals (as many of them have been doing) for a man of his qualifications and he would have had something very substantial to point to as evidence of his fitness for advancement to the managership of a bigger city.

The rapid spread of the city manager plan will make new opportunities for hundreds of men of Mr. Nagle's type in the next came erround today to see if we were reely out of coal and our dog

Fees and the Budget

The stockton Independent

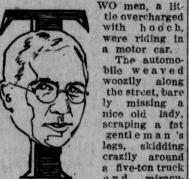

The fact that the existence or non-existence of nearly a million dollars could be a matter of dispute between two state officials furnishes an amazing commentary upon the state accounting system. It also makes perfectly evident that a responsible budget system has not come too soon.

State Superintendent of Schools Wood made the triumphant announcement of the windfall the other day, and next day the glooms followed quickly upon the heels of the board of control declared that Wood had found something that did not exist. It did once, but it was spent—clean gone. But Mrs. Plerce the next day confessed to failing to include in the budget two items aggregating six or seven hundred thousand dollars. This amount will go toward the educational allowance. Since Wood announced that his department could manage if it could have the nine hundred thousand dollars which he "discovered" and since Mrs. Pierce has "found" six hundred thousand dollars which he "discovered" and since Mrs. Pierce has "found" six hundred thousand dollars which he "discovered" and since Mrs. Pierce has "found" six hundred thousand dollars which he "discovered" and since Mrs. Pierce has "found" six hundred thousand dollars which he "discovered" and since Mrs. Pierce has "found" six hundred thousand dollars which he "discovered" and since Mrs. Pierce has "found" six hundred thousand dollars which he "discovered" and since Mrs. Pierce has "found" six hundred thousand dollars which he "discovered" and since Mrs. Pierce has "found" six hundred thousand dollars which he "discovered" and since Mrs. Pierce has "found" six hundred thousand dollars which he "discovered" and since Mrs. Pierce has "found" six hundred thousand found so and the grand proprietation on expenditures. All of these infections are much more serious at this period than later. Even a common cold in infancy is likely to extend to pneumonia, as well as cause other somewhat less serious complications.

He further states that many colds are very contagious and no infant should be exposed needlessly to any person suffering from one. Measles and whooping cough especially should be postponed if possible, since both are likely to be serious in very young children but solden the street, bare ly missing a nice old lady,
